Domestic Dispute Leads To Arrest

Deputy Sheriff Michael Havicus arrived to the scene of a reported domestic dispute between Gary Peters and Heather Harris. Peters told the officer that Harris had struck him over the head with a porcelain bowl and then fled the scene in a vehicle.

Deputy Havicus tracked her down at Amburgey Road, knowing she didn't have an operators license. Deputy Havicus ordered her to step out of her vehicle, in which she replied "No, I am not getting out!" Deputy Havicus reported that he had physically remove her and put her in an arm-lock to get handcuffs on her and arrest her. Deputy Havicus also reported she was incredibly loud and uncooperative.

Heather Harris, 36, was sent to Three Forks Regional Jail on January 5, 2012 on three charges: Assault 4th Degree, Driving without Operators License, and Disorderly Conduct 2nd Degree. Harris' bond is set for $1000 and pre-trial is set for January 12, 2012.

String of Thefts Strikes Booneville Residents Over Weekend

On Sunday, January 8th, officials where called to the scene of a possible theft that had occurred. The complaining party, Ronnie Thomas, reported that some tools and other various items had went missing from two of his vehicles. Following leads from neighbors around Thomas' residence, Constable Bill Campbell and Sheriff Shouse where led to one, Johnny Marshall, age 49, who allegedly had the missing items transported to Jackson County.

He had also allegedly given a nail apron and other items to an individual. This individual, when questioned by officials, also advised them that Marshall was in the possession of some small hand tools belonging to the City Water Plant. Sheriff Shouse called upon David Hall, City Water Plant, to identify the tools in question. They where identified as city property.

Sheriff Shouse traveled to the Jackson/Clay County line during the investigation to look for the stolen items, where he also found a host of other peculiar items. Something that caught Sheriff Shouse's attention, two propane tanks that looked like what was used by the Owsley County School System. He contacted Superintendent Tim Bobrowski to identify these items, which he did, and that led investigators to search the Bus Garage for any other missing items.

That was when the investigation led to the school tractor, which had been stripped, and the starter was stolen. All of these items have since been recovered. Mr. Bobrowski was asked for a quote, "I would like to thank the Sheriff's Office for their quick responses and getting all of the stolen items returned within a 24 hour period."

Johnny Marshall

Over the weekend while Sheriff Shouse and investigators where searching for the missing items, they received yet another call from Bradley Turner about his garage being broken into. They found that a motor and other various items where missing. Sheriff Shouse did recover the motor, and an investigation is still on going to locate the other items.

Johnny Marshall was arrested and transported to the Three Forks Regional Jail on three charges: theft by unlawful taking (2 counts) and burglary in the 3rd Degree. Marshall is being held under a $10,000 cash bond. is pretrial hearing has been set for January 19, 2012. Marshall has several other counts of the above charges pending at this time, while the investigation is underway.

In the photo is a partially hidden boat motor that belongs to Bradley Turner . This was one of the items that was stolen over the weekend. It was found approximately 1000 feet from Turner's home in a ditch,in which the thieves tried to cover it up with debri. Turner also had chain saw and weedeater stolen.

Owsley County Schools tractor, which the thieves took the time to steal the Alternator off the John Deere tractor They also stole two propane tanks which was an approximate lose of $ 1576 to the Owsley County School District.

Truth & Consequences: The Choice Is Yours

On Monday, January 9th, Owsley County's 9th & 12th graders experienced a taste of something quite different than what they were used to doing on a regular school day. "Truth & Consequences: The Choice Is Yours" is a substance abuse prevention activity designed to show students and other youth the impact of being involved with illicit and illegal substances. The goals and objectives of this program are to assist communities in the fight against substance abuse by planning and implementing a youth enrichment program designed to show students the consequences of getting involved with both illicit/illegal and legal substances. The event was sponsored by the Owsley County Extension Service, Owsley County Drug Awareness Council, Owsley County Schools and Owsley Co. Youth Service Center.

Based upon the format of the 4-H Reality Store, students role-play scenarios including: possession of prescription drugs; driving under the influences; sniffing; possession of alcohol; drug paraphernalia,

Quality Care Makes Its Annual Visit

Once again the Family Resource Center and Youth Service Center sponsored Quality Care to visit our students. Those with permissions signed were assessed for both vision and hearing. We had a very good return of permissions this year and served 66 students in the Head Start Program, 260 students at the Elementary, and 193 students at the Jr./High School. This was one of our better years for returned permissions. We want to thank the parents that took the time to follow through and get the permissions returned. We had 7 students who received new glasses. Parents should be receiving their child's individual report shortly....so watch those back packs.

Part 16...
Jake and Liza talked about their years growing up and soon the sun was going down over the trees. They could smell the green beans and cornbread from the kitchen window. Clarence yelled out from the window that supper was on the table and to hurry on in before it got cold! Liza quickly took the clothes off the line and Jake folded them for her as she unpinned them. As they walked into the house with the basket of clothes, Liza felt as if she were looking at her mother standing in the kitchen with her apron on. Clarence was wearing the same old apron her mother Lorene had worn for so many years. The scene made her smile and was a comforting sight for her. Her mommy had been a great cook and they had enjoyed many conversations over a meal, while she was wearing that apron. Clarence hung the apron on a hook and joined them at the table.

I don't even find myself looking to see what time it is, she thought. As a teacher, she was always watching the clock so that she could stay on schedule and get so many things accomplished. They sat at the table and talked until the sun went down. As she had promised, she cleaned up the dishes while Jake and Clarence sat on the porch with their coffee cups.

Clarence had made a peach cobbler for dessert and as soon as he ate his piece, he announced that it was his bedtime. Sure enough it was after nine and he went inside to bed. He was a creature of habit and he liked to keep on his schedule. Liza marveled at how her father had become a good cook in his later years. He had always had the job of doing the dishes after her mother cooked. Jake and Liza sat on the porch for a long time and talked about the stars they could see. Jake told her about the time he was in Vietnam and he watched the stars while on guard duty, and how he wondered how many other people all across the globe were looking at them at the same time he was."We take for granted that the stars will always be there and yet most of us don't take the time to appreciate them", Jake commented. They talked about growing up in the fifties and how they viewed the world back then. They named some of their favorite bands and the type of music they listened to as teenagers. Jake had only listened to bluegrass, where Liza Jane listened to country. It had been a full day, and it was time call it a night. Jake left and Liza tiptoed into the kitchen to put the coffee cups and dessert plates in the sink. As it was her routine, she hopped in the shower and quietly went up to the loft to write. I have a lot on my mind to write, she thought.

or illegal drugs; trafficking; and stealing drugs; etc. Depending on the scenario, students visit appropriate officials and/or agencies to experience the consequences of their behavior. Parents were encouraged to participate with their children. When parents were unable to attend, volunteers such as Extension Homemakers and other community volunteers assume the role of "parents" to the youth and accompany them as they visit the law enforcement agencies, judges, school officials, hospitals, coroner, etc.

Volunteers and community agencies are an integral part of the role playing activity. Students were directed to meet with various representatives related to the consequences of drug use. Special thanks to the following individuals and organizations that donated their time and expertise: Judges - Tom Jones and Bo Leach, KY State Police-Troopers Blanton, Smith and Reed, Owsley County Sheriff's Dept. - Michael Havicus & Lowell Morris, Booneville City Police – Timmy Marshall & Johnny Logsdon, Deputy Coroner – Mark Edwards, Booneville Funeral Home – Cassie Smith, Owsley County High School Principal – Paul Green & Asst. In addition to this event, students had the opportunity to hear a presentation by Tpr. Paul Blanton, Richmond KSP Post Public Affairs Officer on drinking and driving and seatbelt safety. Tpr. Blanton brought a crashed car to show the students the importance of this topic. Special thanks again to Ruby Jackson, Kacey Smith and our partnering sponsors, community organizations & individuals that worked a booth, and to all parents & volunteers that participated in this event. Plans are being made for the 3rd Annual T&C Event to be held in the next school year.

Eastside News

by Linda Young

Hello Again. It has been so long since I’ve written. It seems like the first time again. I had been down in my back and when you hurt so bad, you just don’t feel like doing doing anything.

Well, I hope you all had a wonderful Christmas. We did. We went to my son, Kirk’s for Christmas. WE were all together again, except Dan. Dan had a stomach virus, so he stayed home, o no one else would get it. If everyone would do that when they get sick, our county would be a healthier place to live. Then Wally and I slept the old year out and the New Year in. I guess that’s a sign of old age.

I have been going to Lexington to a doctor for my back. It was so bad, it hurt me to move, but they gave me two shots in my spine under x-ray and they have helped the pain a lot. The doctors are trying to keep me comfortable until I can have surgery. They should let me know the 19th of January when I’ll have surgery.

I was able to walk around Eastside last Friday evening with my 6-year old granddaughter. We tool orders for Girl Scout Cookies. I pray if a girl comes to your door, you will answer your door and consider talking an order from them.

Please pray for Melissa Gabbard. She was hit by a car and is in real bad shape.

Helen Murrell has been real sick over the week-end. She has had strept throat and had to go to the doctor, so please remember her in prayer also.

Please pray for all the sick and those who have lost loved ones.

God Bless until next week.
